

JINfo

www.jin.wa.gov

Brian LeDuc, Program Director

October 18–22, 2004

Traffic Records Mini-Conference

Thanks to Christopher Madill of the WSP and Dirk Marler of AOC for organizing the traffic records information sharing forum, which took place over three days this week in the DIS Boardroom. We heard presentations from a host of vendors and system integrators on a variety of topics, including different technologies for data collection by law enforcement and integration models for the state enterprise. The conference also offered an opportunity for interagency discussion regarding planning efforts and business requirements, and the active participation of officers from the WSP, Pierce County, Tacoma and Seattle was especially valuable.

I would be happy to provide logistical support for similarly targeted forums if anyone has any ideas, and I am currently mulling the idea of a JIN technology conference at some time in the future..

Byrne Grant RFP

DIS filed with OFM the proposed contract with Online Business Systems of Portland Oregon, the vendor selected for the JIN Criminal History Query (CHQ) project with OFM. Work should begin on November 1, as scheduled.

In the interim, I have scheduled all of the meetings associated with the project and continue to collect relevant information for their review.

Summary Offender Profile (SOP)

I continued discussions with Templar regarding suggested improvements to SOP. Templar missed their promise to provide me this week with an evaluation of my request to implement the changes requested by LESA employees, and to provide information that will help Online interface with Templar's proprietary technology. I will report back next week.

I was also able to clarify a misapprehension by Templar that, due to state rules, SOP should not return data from open cases, which is how the application is currently configured. Evaluating the work required to correct this error is part of the process detailed in the preceding paragraph.

E-Citations

I have been putting together a statement of work for the E-citations project. I circulated a draft to the project steering committee today, and still plan to make a presentation to the Board at the November meeting requesting endorsement.